LAST WEEK'S COURIERS FOR POSTAL ROUTE 2 ARE LOST

We have been bombarded with calls from many of our subscribers who live in the northwestern section of the county wanting to know why they didn't get their paper last week. More than 100 Courier subscribers who live on Postal Route 2 did not receive their Oct. 13 issue. The papers were sorted, labeled, bound in a bundle, and delivered to the West Liberty Post Office as usual on Wednesday evening — ready for delivery to subscribers the next morning. So far, the Postal Service has been unable to locate the papers or to provide an explanation as to what may have happened to them. We continue to hope that they were sent to another post office by mistake and will turn up later, but after nearly a week, that now appears to be doubtful. We are pleased, however, to know that readers look forward to reading The Courier enough to call and let us know when they don't get it. Hopefully, it won't happen again. Occasionally, we are late due to mechanical reasons, but we never fail to mail the papers.

MIGHT MAGISTRATES HAVE ANOTHER CHANGE OF HEART?

While it looks for now like Judge Executive Tim Conley will have to ask the fiscal court's leave before he can spend any amount over $5,000 to resolve emergencies that may arise in the county or in the administration of county government, there's a chance the magistrates could have a another change of heart — like they did before.

Some may recall that one of the first official acts taken by the magistrates when Judge Conley assumed office in 2003 was to strip him of the ability to quickly and efficiently respond to day-to-day problems and emergencies. Evidently convinced that no Republican — not even a good old local boy and buddy like Conley — could be trusted to spend the taxpayer's money wisely without their guidance, the magistrates at that time voted to reduce the amount of money the judge executive could spend to meet emergencies from the customary $20,000 to $1,000.

But all that changed during the blazing heat of August 2004 when the air conditioner in the PVA's office in the County Government Building went on the blink. PVA Darrell Bradley, a Democrat stalwart and party leader, went to Judge Conley and told him that he and his staff were about to cook and asked Conley to get it fixed. While ready to oblige, Conley was informed that the cost would be over $1,000—the amount the magistrates had limited him to spend for emergencies. Thus, Bradley and his staff had to swelter in the August heat a couple of days longer while Conley convened a special meeting of the fiscal court to secure the magistrates' approval to fix the air conditioner. Only then could the judge executive give his authorization to order the parts

New water commission sworn in; seeks way to avoid rate increases

Board asks PSC for time to find alternative to suggested rate hike

The five new members appointed by Judge Executive Tim Conley to serve on the Morgan County Water Commission were sworn in by Judge Conley on Monday, Oct. 10.

The new appointees, each of whom represents one of the county's five magisterial districts, are Roy Collett and Tony Campbell, who will serve two year terms; Holli Litteral and Dr. Bill Holbrook, who were appointed to three year terms, and Donnie Gunnell, who will serve a four-year term.

The board elected Roy Collett to serve as chairman and Holli Litteral as secretary/treasurer.

The board will meet the first Monday of each month at 4:30 p.m. at the water district office on Prestonsburg Street.

In other business, the board authorized Tony Campbell, Roy Collett, Holli Litteral, and Water District Manager Barbara Stacy to sign checks for the district and designated Mrs. Stacy to handle bank transfers and opening and closing of bank accounts.

Because the new board had not yet been seated, forcing cancellation of a scheduled bid opening for the district's Phase 10 Part B water line project, the board decided that the project should be rebid and set Monday, Nov. 7, at 5:00 p.m. as the bid opening date.

Of immediate concern was a letter received by Manager Stacy from the state Public Service

Menifee Co.-based manufacturer seeks to locate plant in W. Liberty

Fiscal Court agrees to lease CMS building to Boneal, Incorporated

Boneal Incorporated, a Menifee-County-based firm, is negotiating with Morgan County officials to locate a manufacturing facility in West Liberty.

Initial employment is estimated at ten employees.

"We have been pleased to find a vision for economic development in this area," said David Ledford, Boneal's president, adding, "Morgan County Judge Executive Tim Conley has been a tremendous advocate on behalf of Morgan County."

"Expanding our business in Eastern Kentucky rather than out-of-state locations closer to our customers makes sense when you consider the strong work ethic and the collaborative spirit in this area," Ledford added.

The company's operations in Morgan County could begin as early as the first of the year, Ledford said.

The Morgan Fiscal Court at its September meeting voted to lease the former CMS plant building to Boneal and officials are optimistic that an agreement can be reached.

Judge Executive Conley said the the fiscal court has agreed to lease the 30,000 square foot building to Boneal for 18 months. "At the end of that time, if the company's business grows as expected, the court has agreed to offer Boneal a lease to own agreement, Conley said.

Boneal Incorporated is a prime contracting manufacturer for numerous government agencies including the United States Air Force, United States Coast Guard, and the United States Postal Service as well as the U.S. Department of Justice.

The firm, which is headquartered at Means, employs around 70 people at its Menifee County facility, said Judge Executive Conley.

30 miles of new lines contingent on $50,000 in local tap-on fees

The Morgan County Water District continues to accept signups for the Phase 11 Line Extension Project. Water District Manager Barbara Stacy said that as of Tuesday, 34 households had paid all or a portion of their tap-on fees. The district must have $50,000 in local tap-on fees in the bank before USDA Rural Development will release funds approved for the project. That comes to 84 tap-ons that must be paid before the project can be advertised for bids, Stacy said.

"Tap-on fees are currently $590 and we will work with individuals who wish to make arrangements to pay this fee in installments," said Stacy, "but we must have $50,000 from tap-on fees in the bank before this project can begin."

The following roads are to be considered for water line extensions if there are enough signups from these areas: Ky. 2498, Ky. 705, Rt. 844, Murphy Fork Road, Nickell Branch Road, Pekin Road, New Cummer Road, Ky. 3345, Ky. 205, Denniston Road, Ky. 976, Barnett Ridge Road, Peyton Ridge Road, and Vest Branch.

Stacy said it is hoped that sufficient signups can be obtained by the first of the year.

"The water district is currently working with funding agencies to

Magistrates slash judge's emergency spending authority

The Morgan Fiscal Court made good last week on a threat voiced at the September court meeting and voted 3-2 to curtail Judge Tim Conley's emergency spending authority by reducing the limit on the amount of money Conley can spend to take care of emergency situations without first calling a special meeting to obtain the magistrates' approval.

The proposal to cap the judge's ability to authorize emergency expenditures was made last month after Conley insisted that a vote be taken for his five nominees for positions on the county water commission, a move opposed by four of the magistrates who wanted to retain the old three-member board.

Normally, judge executives are authorized to spend up to $20,000 to resolve day-to-day emergencies that arise, such as equipment breakdowns, road slides, etc.

Voting at last week's court meeting to reduce the $20,000 cap to $5,000 were Magistrates Denzil Potter, Darrell Patrick, and Darris Smith.

Magistrate Frankie Spencer, who called the move "ridiculous," voted no, as did Judge Conley, who noted that the effect would be "to slow down the administrative process" and county government's ability to resolve problems when they arise.

Magistrate Mike Gevedon was not present for the meeting.

Conley noted that in the event of an emergency requiring the expenditure of more than $5,000 to resolve, he will now have to call a special meeting, which usually takes at least 24 hours, and present the problem to the magistrates for their approval.

"It slows down government response because it limits what a judge can do without formally declaring a state of emergency," he said, "and you can't do that for every day-to-day emergency that comes up."

Conley noted that all expenditures

M.C.M.S shows its 'PRIDE'

By Amy Lea Evans

Recently at Morgan County Middle School, students in the 6th, 7th, and 8th grades have all been working hard along with PRIDE Coordinator Mrs. Linda Rose making the school courtyard more beautiful than before. So far the students are doing a wonderful job. Keep up the good work.

The students have weeded flower beds, replaced rocks by the pond, weeded out from under the shrubs and trees, and also cultivated the dirt from the beds. In addition to this, students tore down the gazebo themselves without any heavy equipment. Yet, there is still more work to be done.

Here at MCMS our goal is to have a neat and clean school outside as well as on the inside. The Cougar "PRIDE" Club has also been preparing for roadside clean up, not just at our school, but also in our environment. We plan to help alleviate many of these situations in our community such as littering, pollution, and urging recycling.

The Cougar PRIDE Club's goals in the future are to make our county roads clean and also to double the amount of recycling products each month for the next month. We hope you help be apart of this Together we can!

Also the Cougar "PRIDE" Club would like to thank Mrs. Aragon, Mr. Frazier, and Mrs. Linda Rose for helping make this club a good one. We hope that in the future our goals will be met and thank you teachers and Mrs. Rose for volunteering your time with us! It is greatly appreciated!

She liked to eat pears and ride in cars. Coffee was also one of her favorites and if I left my cup where she could get to it, then a soft wet tongue usually finished it off. She gnawed on things that were nasty and then licked my legs. She was Molly!

Molly actually belonged to my grandchildren but with their busy schedules I thought she was being neglected so I brought her home with me and nourished her. She responded with unequivocal love. She was a great watchdog but she didn't bite. Molly just barked until the vehicle stopped and then she took her little nosy body out to welcome them, wagging her bobbed tail until her whole body shook. She loved people and a little attention overjoyed her.

Breakfast for Molly came before anything else. Her excitement mounting as you came out the door because she was so glad to see you and excited that there could be a walk in the woods or a ride in a vehicle. Anything that meant she was going to be with you! She liked company while she ate so I fed her and my other dog, Socks, early in the morning and stayed with them while they ate.

A plentiful supply of apples from my aunt's house and a big old pear tree in the back yard has meant a lot of peels this summer. Our horses love this treat and so Sunday I gave my granddaughter a bucket of this apple and pear mixture and told her to take it to the horses. She is not allowed to go through the fence without supervision but Molly can and did. Bouncing through the gate after a pear she jumped on Lady's back legs and the horse did what comes natural. She kicked and Molly went flying landing on her back with a thump. We thought for a little while, as did the vet, that she might make it but I think her neck was broken.

We buried her under a tree close to our house for she was close to our hearts. I miss her still! Visions of that little black and white furry spaniel erupt just when I think I am over the hurt. I know it is silly to miss a pet this much but she was truly a great friend.

—Agree Or Not— More Revenue Than Expected More To Fight Over

By Todd Duval
FRANKFORT — Most Kentuckians would be ecstatic to learn that their income next year will increase by more than 7 percent. If nothing more, the extra cash will offset $3-a-gallon gasoline and a predicted 50 percent increase in home heating costs. If not ecstatic, state budget officials are at least relieved at estimates that call for state tax revenues to the General Fund to rise by 7.1 percent for the 2005-2006 fiscal year. That takes some — but only some — of the pressure off them in preparing a two-year state budget for the General Assembly that convenes here in January.

The problem, however, is that through the vagaries of the tax reform legislators enacted earlier this year, the revenue growth in the second year of the budget cycle is expected to fall below 1 percent. All the while, of course, the costs of everything state government does will be rising while revenues remain essentially stagnant.

State Budget Director Brad Cowgill said last week, “We are heading toward some budgeting challenges.”

That’s an understatement. Even the 7.1 percent revenue growth in the 2006 fiscal year — amounting to about $350 million in new money — is a paltry sum in an overall state budget approaching $8 billion.

Even adding in the $124 million in surplus funds from the last fiscal year doesn’t provide much in the way of new money to meet even some of the demands on the General Fund over the next budget period:

- The Medicaid budget is facing a $700 million shortfall, and even though the largest part of the Medicaid program is financed with federal money, the state’s portion is substantial and growing every year. There still is no word from Gov. Ernie Fletcher’s administration on how that looming shortfall will be resolved, either through spending cuts or new state funding or a combination of both.
- The cost of health insurance for state government workers and public school teachers for another year could eat up all of the surplus from last year. No one knows whether the move to a self-insurance plan for state employees will result in significant savings.
- Everyone — state workers and teachers — will expect a raise each year in the new budget at least sufficient to offset higher gasoline and heating costs. No one anticipates those raises to be the 5 percent required under existing state law.
- The state’s prisons are overflowing and the cost of operating those prisons is rising almost as fast as the cost of medical insurance for employees. Calls for loosening state sentencing requirements to slow the growth in the state’s prison population have met with widespread opposition.
- And state government, with its many buildings to heat and fleet of vehicles to gas up, has to expect for those costs to rise substantially through the rest of this fiscal year and into the next budget cycle as well.

So Cowgill’s “challenges” are formidable even with more than $500 million extra to spend over the 2006-2008 biennium even without issuing any new debt to pay for university buildings and the state’s $75 million stake in a new arena in downtown Louisville.

University of Kentucky President Lee Todd already has put everyone on notice that he will be lobbying legislators actively for more money for UK in the new budget. University of Louisville President James Ramsey will be just as active, as well as the presidents of the regional universities.

Is there any wonder, then, that Fletcher last week tossed out the idea of a 10-cent increase in the state cigarette tax? That will hardly solve all of the budget “challenges” facing Fletcher. And if you believe the chairman of the Senate budget committee, it won’t happen either.

In some ways, it is more difficult to make a state budget with a little new money than it is when tax revenues actually fall. In the latter case, spending cuts are ordered and even though no one likes them, the cuts are understandable. But with $350 million dollars in new revenue, everyone wants a piece of it, and there simply isn’t enough to go around.

On September 16, the Kentucky horse industry, led by the Kentucky Equine Education Project, announced its position to seek a voter referendum to amend the state constitution to allow for full casino gaming for those holding licenses to operate racetracks in Kentucky. As part of its position KEEP supports earmarking significant and quantified gaming tax revenues for education, healthcare, local development funding, and preserving the environment. We believe this is the right approach at the right time. Why?

Since KEEP began its discussions on the issue of expanded gaming, there have been three guiding principles.

- It has to be good for Kentucky.
- It has to take a nonproliferation stance on gambling.
- And it has to be good for the horse industry.

The Commonwealth of Kentucky is facing a dire budget situation and services of all kinds are faced with cuts or elimination. Our state needs increased revenues to keep some vital programs in operation and to keep our cities and counties vibrant. The KEEP Plan addresses those needs at a critical time. Otherwise, alternative solutions, such as tax increases or fees, will have to be considered.

Now is the time to address these issues with a strategic decision allowing casino gaming facilities operated by racetracks. A constitutional amendment allows the people of Kentucky to vote on this alternative.

By allowing full casino gaming for existing racetracks, our horse industry will remain competitive by increasing the purse size and attracting the highest quality of horses to race at our state’s tracks. Also, much needed revenue will remain in Kentucky.

Currently there are hundreds of thousands of casino gamblers in Kentucky who gamble hundreds of millions of dollars annually at casinos in four neighboring states, and soon Ohio could be the fifth. We need to keep this money in Kentucky to educate our children and provide much needed services around the state.

Our economic future hinges on how well and how quickly we can raise the level of education in our state. We can and we must do better.

But it doesn’t stop there. As a state, we can and must do better in the area of healthcare, economic development, infrastructure improvement for local governments, and in protecting the environment.

All of this is part of the KEEP Plan.

Kentucky has a unique opportunity to determine its fate in the midst of its ever increasing budget deficit, rising costs of services, and threats to our signature industry. By adopting the KEEP Plan we can move our horse industry and the state ahead. And most importantly, the people get to decide.

When men were men

It was a lazy winter Friday in northern Morgan County in a small spot in the road called Wrigley. It was Feb. 18, 2005 and the world had just witnessed the first episode of the Survivor series’ 10th season.

As I watched them vote off the first three survivors, Dean Adkins called and asked if I saw “that crazy woman stand up in that boat and start singing?”

“Everyone else was rowing and she was singing,” Dean said incredulously. “Where do they get these people?! How do they get on that show?!”

“If I knew,” I said, “you’d be watching me.”

That morning, I walked into the Wrigley 7-711 looking for John. As Marie motioned me in the direction where John and John Alden were sitting, she asked, “Did you see that woman standing up in that boat singing?”

Nodding that I did, I said, “Yeah. I guess if I get on Survivor I want to be singing.”

“I’ve heard you sing and you’re a better singer than her,” Marie said. I looked at her and said, “Why, Marie, you’re my new best friend. You want to hear one of my new songs?”

“I said you’re a better singer than her, I didn’t say I wanted to listen to you sing,” she said as she went back to work, bustin’ my bubble a little.

Leaving the Wrigley 7-711, I realized I had a hard day’s work ahead of me. It was snowing and the wind chill seemed to cut right through my skin. This was gonna be a tuff winter day for this fat redneck hillbilly from a small spot in the road called Wrigley.

It made me think of what my Uncle Virgil told me when I was 18 and worked my first construction job with him. He said, “When I was your age, I would walk five miles to work at a sawmill off-bearing lumber for ten hours and then walk home — up hill both ways.”

My dad would tell me about the late Pierce Patrick of Pomp and how strong he was and what a worker he was. When he worked in the log woods, he would hook a log to his horse and as the horse skidded the log out of the woods, Pierce would somehow throw a log on his shoulder and carry it out, too.

When I first started working construction in Dayton, Ohio, we had to carry road form — ten foot long metal forms that weighed 250 pounds. Mike Hill of the Smith Creek area worked with me and he could carry two of these forms, one in each hand. Meanwhile, this skinny 130 pound novice from Wrigley could barely pick up one end of one of those things.

That amazed me so much that I’d never forgot it, and years later, I worked on another road job and took one of the road forms home with me and practiced lifting it until I could carry it on my shoulder anywhere I wanted to.

It took me months to accomplish that; I can’t imagine carrying two like Mike Hill did right out of high school.

When I bought my Ford truck from Ronnie Gibson, he told me when he was younger he could grab hold of the bottom of a 2x6 ceiling joist with his fingers and hold himself off the ground, just by his fingertips.

Gary Williams and Gary Howe — Every time I shake their hands, if I don’t get my hand in their’s first, they almost break it. Talk about vice grips! I always tell them when I shake their hand, “Don’t make me hit you.”

I’ve set and watched David Hill of West Liberty lift the side of a Volkswagen up to where the tires came off the ground.

When men were men, I’m sure you know someone who fits the description, maybe in your own neighborhood, maybe in your own family.

My Dad worked every day of his life. He went to work, came home, never complained no matter how hard the job was. I never saw him drink beer, never heard him cuss — I worked with him 20 years, and, believe you me, that was enough to make him do both.

When he was 60, he had a heart attack and drove himself to the hospital. He was in the hospital sixty-six days. His kidneys quit, and when he came home, he was on dialysis until he died. But before he died, he worked four hours a day and built a house.

When I think of all the people on welfare that the government is keeping up because they have given up or are just plain too lazy to work, I think of my Dad and the men I mentioned above and I hold my head up with pride and sometimes tears come into my eyes.

Well, more on this topic later, maybe.

and have it fixed.

Shortly thereafter — maybe after caucusing with Bradley — the magistrates had a change of heart and decided to lift the cap on the judge’s emergency spending.

If it turns out to be a bad winter and some Democrat leader’s road gets blocked by a slip or rock-fall too big for the county road department to remedy, who knows? The magistrates could have another change of heart.

The Judge’s Corner

By Tim Conley
Judge Executive

Hello from the Judge’s Corner. The brush cutters are busy in Districts 4 and 5. The mowers are mowing in Districts 2 and 3; the state brush cutter is in District 1. To know which district you live in, you can call us at 743-3897, or if you know your magistrate, give him a call. Following is a list of magistrates and the districts that they represent: Denzil Potter, District 1; Darris Smith, District 2; Darrell Patrick, District 3; Frankie Spencer, District 4; Mike Gevedon, District 5. We try to mow the county within a six weeks period. This is the fourth time we have mowed county roadsides and state roadsides (that we are responsible for) this year.

Question this week: How are county government pay scales established? What is the range of pay, and as Judge Executive, did you create any new positions?

Answer: Elected officials — The Judge/Executive, County Court Clerk, PVA, and Sheriff’s pay scale is set forth by the legislators in Frankfort, and is based on county population. County officials have no power to increase or decrease the state required pay rates. The employment that we as the Fiscal Court supervise includes office staff, road crew, transfer station, etc. We have 25 employees on county payroll. The highest paid employee receives less than $12.30 per hour. Twenty of the 25 employees make less than $9.75 per hour, depending on their job description.

As for new positions, every county is required to have a dog warden; currently our road crew serves as our dog wardens. We have a lot going on with strays and unwanted pets. The Helping Hands group has been very helpful with this problem. The fate of these dogs are slim. The county is out over $10,000.00 per year on stray dogs). We need your help with this problem. You can call our office or either of the veterinary clinics and ask about the Spay & Neuter Program.

The Director of Emergency Management position is another that receives funding from state and federal emergency funds which counties are required to establish. State government pays pay half of the salary for this position. The county only pays $4.04 per hour of the salary. With this position, in the past two and one half years we have been the recipient of over one half million dollars in equipment and property for Morgan County.

Lower Elkfork

By Alpha Clevenger

Oct. 17--Sympathy is extended to those who are bereaved. Get well wishes to the sick and shutins.

Barry and Dempsey Clevenger came Saturday evening and ate supper with me. I thought Joy was coming too. I sure wish they all could have come to visit and eat a meal with me. I enjoy having them all.

Travis Grant Clevenger, of West Liberty, Ohio called Saturday. So good to hear from him. He was fine and been working. I asked him when he was coming to visit us. He said he really didn't know when. We all wish he would come back to good old Kentucky to live.

Saturday evening, Oct. 1, Alpha took a long stroll down below her home on the property of Leon Russell. I wanted to see if I could find some papaws down around the creek. I was so grateful and thankful that Leon or Greg had took the tractor and cut out a road around his corn bottom. If they hadn't done that I wouldn't have been able to get down there. When I saw I could walk around the corn bottom I said "Oh, thank God they've been clearing out enough that I can walk some. I was so glad about that and I went down around the creek and I found a few papaws but they were not fully ripened. I softened a couple and ate them. i said to myself, this is worht my trip down here. They were very good. I always loved them and when I was a young child we would go papaw hunting and my parents had lots of trees on their property. If they weren't ripe we'd lay them in grass and weeds and they would ripen, and we'd go and get them and they were so good. When I got back from walking and I was back up on the blacktop and I was looking and admiring all the beautiful fall flowers that were blooming around the blacktop and around the ditch line. There were so many goldenrod flowers and farewell summer flowers. Oh! they were so many and were so beautiful, too. Purple ones and other flowers. I enjoyed looking at them and after I got back to the house I was good and tired and hungry, too. I felt much better after taking my walk.

Sympathy is extended to the family of Mattie Perry. She was my neighbor and always was a good friend to everyone and a good neighbor. We've known her for many years and we always loved her and all her family. Her late husband was a good friend to my late husband. May God bless and comfort the family in their loss.

Happy belated birthday to a dear friend of mine, Sophie Blevins, of Grant Park, Illinois. I didn't know the date of your birthday, but I knew the month was October. I wish you many more and may God bless you now and always. I know God watches over you and I pray He will give you new strength to go on and hela you. You are such a wonderful and good person. God has been so good to you. He is a good friend to us all.

Barry came on Wednesday evening and spent the night with me and took the garbage off and helped me with other chores. Thanks to him. I took him back home Thursday evening. I pray everyday for him, for God to save his soul. I pray for all my family that the good Lord will bring them in before it's too late.

How are you Fairy Dean? Hope you and your family are fine. When I take a walk at the park I see Winston sometimes, and I ask about you and Paul.

Alpha attended church at Lick

Fork Sunday night. A good service.

I ran into Marcella Finch at McKenzie's recently and tqalked to her. Good to see her. She is always a friendly person.

I talked to Bonnie Pelfrey at McKenzie's Shopwise recently, and others there.

Someone told me they had a big frost on their lawn Monday morning. I didn't any at my place, but it will soon be a lot of frost on the pumpkin and everything, and trees are now turning brown and leaves are falling everywhere. I can't believe winter will soon be here.

How are you, Sue Kinner? Hope you are well.

We heard Rev. Vernon Lewis Sunday afternoon on W.L.K.S. and all the others. Keep up the good work. We listen to W.S.I.P. paintsville every Sunday evening. We love all the gospel songs. I heard Katie Collinsworth Saturday morning on W.R.L.V. Salyersville, and i also called her and talked to her. They were fine. She is my granddaughter. I asked her about Julie, her beautiful daughter. She was doing good.

Happy birthday to my granddaughter, Laura Holbrook, on Oct. 19. May you hae many more. God bless you. We love you.

From the Highlands of Eastern Kentucky to the Highlands of Scotland and back

By Johnathan Gay,
Director of the Morehead State
University Innovation
Center

On September 5, a group of 28 Kentucky citizens traveled to Scotland to spend two weeks studying their economic development policies. The group was the inaugural class of the Kentucky Entrepreneurial Coaches Institute, a program created by the UK

Cooperative Extension Service and funded by the Kentucky Agriculture Policy Board with Phase I tobacco monies.

I was blessed to be a member of this first class and to come together with 27 other fellows from a variety of backgrounds to learn how to "coach" aspiring and active small business owners. For more than a year this group met to learn about community and economic development. We became friends and allies, and we learned together. We learned things like appreciative inquiry, a community development philosophy that – put simply – believes in touting what you got rather than complaining about what is not. We learned how Ohio University and ACE-NET in Athens, Ohio, came together and built a full service commercial kitchen incubator for area residents interested in commercializing their recipes- many of which have been in their family for generations. Most importantly, we learned how to coach entrepreneurs in ways that permit them to find answers that will take their business to the next level.

The highlight of the institute was our trip to Scotland. For two weeks we learned about Scotland's economic development strategies. We experienced their wonderful hospitality and asked them dozens of questions; all of which they graciously answered. We saw their beautiful scenery and realized why many of their ancestral cousins settled in the Appalachian Mountains: it is one of the few places in America that rivals Scotland in beauty. We learned some valuable lessons that we will work to impart on our policy makers here in Kentucky.

The most impressive thing about Scotland's economic strategies is their focus on small business. In Kentucky we seem to always be working for "the big win." Perhaps that is a product of culture; regardless it holds us back. Rather than working to make the small entrepreneurs more effective, or create a friendly climate for migrating entrepreneurs, we instead try to recruit large factories into the area. In Appalachian Kentucky, for a host of reasons, this has been particularly difficult. We spend valuable resources chasing factories or call centers only to see them leave in a few years after they have depleted their tax incentives.

In Scotland entrepreneurs learn to think about global markets. This attitude should be emulated here in the Commonwealth, particularly in Eastern Kentucky among our craftsmen and local artists whose niche products should play better in a larger market. The internet has created a global market for us here in Appalachia and we should take better advantage of it the way the Scottish do.

Scotland also handles tourism in a much better way. We can do better in our private sector tourism. Some wonderful models exist in Wolfe County in the work of David Musser (who is attempting to create an Eastern Kentucky Heritage Monument) and Richard Jett (who runs a tour company and coordinates entertainment at many local venues), but we need more of them.

Another strategy that has promise in Scotland is their work to create a Highlands and Islands University that will provide further educational opportunities for the residents of Northern Scotland. Community outreach and economic development will be a central focus of the University's work. A centerpiece of these efforts will be research programs that specialize in areas of study that impact upon the highlands and islands themselves. The area has vast coastal lands so marine research will be a priority. There is a program designed to create sustainable mountain communities and another that looks at the effectiveness of network learning via the internet in rural communities.

Morehead State University and Eastern Kentucky University should look at some of these programs as they develop the joint-college University Center of the Mountains. And rather than waiting in their ivory towers for the masses to come unto them, Appalachian Kentucky's regional colleges should place special emphasis on getting students and faculty members into the field to work on issues of concern. Such an approach could be a win for the college in terms of public relations and recruitment, for the students who gain valuable experience, for professors whose skills stay fresh, and, most importantly, for the community that gets hands on help from student and faculty experts.

For two weeks we learned these and other valuable lessons from some of the most gracious hosts in the world. Most importantly, we learned that the past 12 months have welded our motley crew of farmers, environmentalists, economic development agents, county extensions agents, business owners, avid Republicans, yellow-dog Democrats, the owner of a lumber company, an outspoken baker, and an opinionated attorney (to name just a few of our personalities) into a strong team committed to improving the entrepreneurial climate for small business owners in North Eastern Kentucky; stay tuned for further developments.

Student's editorial leads to initiation of 21st Century skateboarding safety class

After the following editorial, written for Mr. Daid Frazier's class, was presented to Mr. Keith Holbrook, 21st Century instructor, a class was developed. On Tuesdays at Morgan County Middle School a Skateboarding Safety Class will be offered. If interested in being in this class, see Mr. Frazier or Mrs. McPherson at the Middle School. Thanks, Alex, for your concern.

By Alex Vance

As you are driving down the streets of West Liberty and you are enjoying the views of the beautiful landscapes and buildings along your way, when all of the sudden something catches your eye. What is it? What grabbed your attention away from the road? If you were traveling down Riverside Drive close to Old Mill Park then it probably was someone you recognized from the hallways of Morgan County Middle School "ollieing" onto a curb without proper safety gear on. Or are they grinding rails at the West Liberty Health Department.

If you pass by these streets after school hours, then you will notice this quite frequently. Is this a problem that someone needs to do something about? Most people say, "Of course, we need to make sure that our kids are safe, but what can we do?" If you are asking yourself this question then let me tell you what I think would help this problem. Adding a skateboarding safety class to the 21st Century list of programs would help keep these children off the streets and teach them how to enjoy their sport without getting hurt. Mr. Holbrook, will you at least consider it while I give you some more information.

There are many reasons to add this program to your schedule, one of the reasons would be to increase your numbers. What do I mean, you ask? There would be a huge number of students who would love to stay and learn about their favorite sport. They want to be able to hang out with their own crowd who have the same interest as them and learn new tricks and safety tips. If you were to let this take place, then I know many of my friends and I would be the first in line to sign up for this class.

I know that to get to participate in the fun activities that are offered in 21st Century, you first have to come to regular ESS/Tutoring and that is another positive thing to think about. Why is that a positive thing? If we can get the students to come to tutoring, then they can have help with their homework and get some things done. I know that when students come to tutoring and get their homework done, they actually learn the lessons that their teacher wants them to learn. They also have less detentions/In School Suspension, and they are more ready to get involved with what is going on in class. This happens because they understand what is going on. You see, there would be many positive outcomes of students learning and that is what it's all about isn't it?

Another reason that you might want to add this class to your program is to save a life. Save a life? What? How can having a class on skateboarding save lives? There is an easy answer for this. We must teach students how to wear proper safety gear and to be safe while they are skating on the road or beside of the road. It is very important that these things be addressed.

Many students now just go at it as hard as they can without researching the proper techniques to doing tricks, skating and riding the board. That is where your program comes in. Here we could learn all the proper techniques, discuss/display safety gear and how to wear it so that it protects you and discuss rules of the road.

Let's just say that you didn't offer this class and there was a student out for a little joy ride. He was "ollieing" a speed bump down in front of the health department when all of the sudden a car comes flying down the hill beside of Frederick Law office and the Barber shop. They might be going quite fast and fiddling with the radio. Then all of the sudden a tragedy happens and a life is taken. If this class was offered, then this might not have happened because you would have trained this student not to be "ollieing" in the middle of the road. I think that is something you should think about.

Let's say you are looking for another reason to have this class. If that is the case, then lets talk about school attendance. I know what you are thinking, "What does this class during 21st Century have to do with the school's attendance?" Simple, if you offer the program during an after school program then students would come to school more often so that they could see their friends and enjoy learning more about their sport. You see, before they can come to the after school program, they first must come to school, don't they? I know that is something that you all want, too.

You see, there are many reasons to add this to your program so please think about the safety of your students and their lives. Do you think adding this class is worth it? I do and I hope that you do, too.

October– National Coop Month

Cooperatives are often the most visible businesses in rural Kentucky communities. Their presence may not be as obvious in larger metropolitan areas, but in rural communities they touch the lives of many families and individuals. In the Mountain Telephone area alone, we have approximately 78 employees scattered throughout our 4 county territory which includes: Elliott, Menifee, Morgan, Wolfe and a portion of Bath Counties. It's hard to find someone who does not have a connection, such as a relative or friend, who works for a cooperative.

Mountain Telephone serves nearly 14,000 members and returns an estimated $1,000,000 in Capital Credits each year. Our members are our owners. Keeping this in mind, we know it is our responsibility to provide the best in phone service, the best internet service, the best technology has to offer and just simply the best all around communications service that we can give our people.

Cooperatives play major roles in area schools, sports and community activities. Mountain Telephone is active in our public schools by participating in Reality Stores, Career Days, Dr. Suess Reading Days, Senior Finance Planning, and many more. Plus, a number of employees are active as Youth Group leaders, Chess Team coaches, sports coaches and community leaders. Each year, Mountain Telephone participates in and/or supports local Relay for Life events. So you see, we don't just speak of communities, we're right there with you, working beside you.

These are only a fraction of the many ways a cooperative enhances, not only the territory they serve, but the people as a whole. Undoubtedly, Mountain Telephone truly is ...

Your friend, neighbor and partner!

HOW DO I KNOW

How do I know that Christ is risen? What proof have I to give? He touched my life one blessed day and I began to live. How do I know He left the tomb that Easter long ago? I met Him just this morning, and my life is all aglow. How do I know that endless life He gained that day for me? His life within is proof enough of immortality. How do I know that Christ still lives, Rich blessings to impart? I know its true because He lives and reigns within my heart.

Today is your birthday and you turn 55 years old.
We know you're having a party
Upon the streets of gold.

We wish you were here
so we could celebrate.

guess we'll have to wait.

We miss you so much
but we know that you're fine.
We'll see you again soon,
and we'll have nothing at time.
"Happy Birthday in Heaven."

Love always,

I SAID A PRAYER FOR YOU TODAY

I said a prayer for you today. I said a prayer for you today and know God must have heard. I felt the answer in my heart although He spoke no word. I didn't ask for wealth or fame, I knew you wouldn't mind. I asked Him to send treasures of a far more lasting kind. I asked Him to be near you at the start of each new day to grant you health and blessings and friends to share your way! I asked for happiness for you in all things great and small. But it was for His loving care I prayed the most of all.

Memory Hill & Roundabout

By Hazel B. Craft

Oct. 17--So many interesting things have happened within the past two weeks. It will be hard to mention them all.

Recently Mr. and Mrs. Estill Fugate, Dale Fugate and Joy Anderson Pisciotto paid Memory Hill a visit--a short visit but an enjoyable one. I was so thrilled my sister, Joy, was able to visit. It had been some time since she was here. Anyway, we had exciting times while they were here. They arrived late on Monday. On Tuesday (two weeks ago) we spent some time in West Liberty. Georgia especially wanted to visit the newly established Bible shop which Mike Frisby and his wife set up the Walls Of Grace Christian Book Store. After we finished taking care of other affairs we went to the cemetery at Woodsbend where so many friends and loved ones are buried. Georgia especially wanted to visit Loretta Spencer Frisby's grave.

We then returned to Memory Hill and had a soup bean supper.

On Wednesday we toured some poaces in Breathitt County. First we stopped by the cemetery on the Wilson Fork of Frozen where Estill's folks are buried. The cemetery has been fenced and is well cared through donations by the Fugates.

Then up Clear Fork we went. My, the memories up that creek. We passed so many families places including the Clear Fork Cemetery, also the spot where the Clear Fork School once stood where Wardie taught two years and I taught one year in 1938, the year Wardie and I were married. Also I attended my first year of school at this little country school. Also our little church at Caney--the Redeemed Baptist Church--was organized in this school building in 1936. From there we drove past the King Settlement--as far as the county road goes. There are some school children in this settlement that a school bus picks up and takes to the Jackson school system--no more county schools since the consolidation took place.

After passing the King Settlement we hit the country road and were able to get to the Forest Taulbee place. From there we walked on to the Noah Anderson place which now belongs to Georgia, Joy and their half-sister, Christine Hill. My nephew, Dale Fugate (Georgia and Estill's son) was so helpful in taking us wherever we wanted to go.

After touring the head of Clear Fork we returned to visit the Taulbee and Carpenter Cemetery close to where uncle Bee Taulbee (a brother to my grandfather, Daniel Taulbee) lives. We so much wanted to visit this historical cemetery where so many of our relatives are buried. Dale especially wanted to visit this cemetery. We found no way to get across the creek as a new bridge is being built. Hopefully when Dale returns again from Texas we can visit our beloved cemetery.

From there we traveled to Jackson, had lunch (a late one it was). We had planned to visit a cemetery up Meat Scaffold where some of my Bach relatives are buried. I told Dale that trip had to wait until next year. It was now growing late. So we headed toward Memory Hill, going up Hunting Creek via the Town Flat. So many memories on Hunting Creek. We passed where the Fletcher School was and that I attended before going to the Odd Fellows Home.

On Thursday the group headed back to Grant Park, Illinois. On their way north they stopped at Dayton, Ohio, where Georgia and Joy met their half sister, Christine Anderson Hill. It was a joyful meeting. It was the first time they met. When the girls were born Christine had already left Breathitt County for Dayton. Later I called Christine and we had a wonderful conversation. She and I are about the same age--she is a year older than I am. I have many fond memories of playing with her before we went to Lexington.

Yesterday I talked to Opal Mullins Church. She moved from Abingdon, Virginia, about a week ago. She is now with her son, Woody, in Clark County. She put her furniture in storage and she will stay with her son until she decides what to do. Right now she is in a weakened condition due to taking care of her husband, Elmer, off and on for about a year and helping getting her furniture, etc. moved from Abingdon.

I am looking forward to the Henry and Alice Stidham Bach (my grandparents) reunion at Memory Hill Nov. 29. I am now in the process of notifying as many as possible.

Sympathy and best of wishes are extended to all who have lost loved ones and best of wishes to the sick and shutins.

Great services were held at the Redeemed Baptist Church the past Wednesday through the weekend. Our pastor, Roy Collett, and the members want to sincerely thank each and everyone who attended any of the services. We especially want to thank all the ministers who attended and participated. Mark your calendar. Five day services will be held Monday through the third weekend in October and April of each year.

Now for the visitors the past two weeks. On October 12 several members of the Bach and Henry family visited Memory Hill. Five of them were first cousins: Betty Bach, Anna Lou Ison, Walter Conn, Barbara Ann Howard, and Bob Short. Edith and Herbert Henry were well represented. They lived in a house where the new motel is located. Edith Henry is a sister to the Dr. Bachs--Wilgus, Arthur, Luther and Bert. Their father was a brother to my great grandfather, Isaac Bach. Readers if I made a mistake in naming the first cousins, please let me know.

Wayne and Dona (Williams) Logan, of Stateline, NV and Dion Williams, of Morehead--all descendants of Daniel Williams were welcome visitors--all were here the past Thursday. Then on Friday, Ruby Arnett and Dale Toy, of Owingsville, and their grandsons--Alex and Wesley Noble, of Jackson, Ky., thoroughly enjoyed their tour through the house. The two youngsters were eager b eavers and asked very intelligent questions when they saw so much history in the big house. They are both students in the Jackson school system. I gave them several brochures about Memory Hill so they could discuss with their classmates what was going on at Memory Hill.

Finally a large sign has been erected on Highway 191 across from Memory Hill--Many thanks to Melissa Bach, daughter of Kathy Bailey, who made the sign, and Don Bailey and Marvin Arnett, who erected it. More signs are in the process of being erected elsewhere, on the cabins and duplicate signs for the Sacred Altars located behind the cemetery, also directions elsewhere reaching Memory Hill.

Plans are now underway to restore cabins and the completion of the school house complex. We planned to do all this this fall. Too many other projects had to be taken care of first.

String Along Guild has monthly meeting Tuesday, Sept. 27

String Along Quilt Guild met for the monthly meeting on Tuesday, September 27, at 6:30 p.m., at the Morehead State University Adult Education Center, at Index.

Eighteen members recited the Pledge to the American Flag, led by president Libby Hammonds.

As the roll was called, each member answered with their favorite color. Show and Tell items were also shared during roll call. Among these items were a palm tree quilt block, over the hill doll, barn raising version of the log cabin quilt pattern.

Secretary Oma Patrick read minutes of the previous meeting.

The quilt block contest, to take place in January '06, was discussed and it was decided that the blocks should be turned in during the December meeting.

Several years ago the group made quilt blocks enough for each member to get enough blocks for a sampler quilt. Since then several new members have joined the guild, so the ladies have decided to resume this project until the new members all receive enough blocks for a top. After discussion the group decided to make 12 inch blocks (including seam allowance) for this project.

Several other items of business were touched on before the business session ended.

A nice door prize donated by Vanessa Litton was won by Oedith Wright.

Before the meeting adjourned everyone was treated to several different kinds of yarns, threads, and craft items donated by Sue Kinner and her sister, Bonnie Mae Center, of Mount Sterling. Many thanks to both for sharing with the group!

Those present were Glois Williams, Maxine Blair, Anna Keeton, Libby Hammonds, Blanche Black, Oedith Wright, Vanessa Litton, Eleanor Holbrook, Linda Perry, Janie Collinsworth, Sue Kinner, Oma Patrick, Kathleen Kissinger, Fay Jenkins and niece, Charity Jenkins, Kay Moore, Roberta Hutchinson, Myrtle Fannin, and Jane Collett.

The next meeting will be Tuesday, Oct. 25, 6:30 p.m., at the MSU Adult Education Center, at Index.

Growing at Grace

Grace Baptist Church was very happy to have the opportunity to be a part of Christian Youth Rally '05 which was held at Old Mill Park, Saturday, October 8, 2005. The crowd of young people from various area churches was small, but those who braved the dreary, darkening weather showed a lot of enthusiasm and had a wonderful time. This was an exciting way in which to spread the word of God and show our young people there is an alternative to drugs, alcohol, death, and destruction and that is a wonderful and everlasting life with our Lord Jesus Christ! Grace's Praise and Worship Team played and sang, Hands of Praise performed and the ladies of our WMU served the food, which was provided free of charge by the organizations who sponsored the Rally.

In the absence of Pastor Mike Lindon, Sunday, October 9, 2005, our guest speaker was Reverend Mick Hardin. It's always great to have Brother Mick as our speaker; he brings a well constructed message and a wonderful sense of humor to his sermons. He is welcomed by the whole congregation, but especially by our young people, to whom he has a unique appeal!

Our prayers will be with the members of Grace Baptist who will join a team of Southern Baptist Disaster Relief workers who are leaving October 15, to return to areas of the Gulf Coast which are still in need from the effects of Hurricane Katrina. Pastor Mike, Gary and Raquel Gilliam, and Barry Evans will be joining others from the Red River Association who will be going to minister to the physical and spiritual needs of the people there. We pray for the Lord's blessing and guidance as they attend these stricken people who find themselves in a terrible situation. May our representatives give them physical comfort, but also help renew their faith and hope in our Lord Jesus Christ!

Grace Baptist Church is located on Rt. 191 in Malone. We love having visitors and everybody is welcome!

Blevins and Elam reunion held at Grassy Creek

The Wesley Blevins and Maggie Elam Reed Blevins reunion was held on Saturday, Oct. 1, and Sunday, Oct. 2, at the Gypsy Corral Campground at Grassy Creek.

It was a beautiful weekend for the gathering and many activities were enjoyed by the following: David, Kathy, Amy and Chris Hinton, Scott and Beth Rowlands, Michael Hogan, of Somerset, Marty and Kathy Vioers, of Flemingsburg, Rena and Daniel Adams, of Northern Kentucky, George and Carolyn Woods, Lexington, Kirk and Wendy Miller, of Paris Island, South Carolina, Bob and Christine Gevedon, of West Liberty, Zach and Megan Blevins, Mike, Sheila, and Amber Stamper, of Hazel Green, Jeff and Jennifer Brown, Mike Paula, and Sarah Elam, John and Susie Blevins, Jimmy, Debi, and Monica Brewer, Ernestine Blevins, Paul and Erma Stamper, of Grassy Creek, Bill Ferrell, of Frenchburg, Debby Halsey and Jay Barfield, of Orlando, Florida.

The guys enjoyed some paintball gun fights while the others enjoyed a much tamer game of pitching horse shoes and the new Corn Hole Game. Before departing on Sunday the wagon was loaded with hay and hooked to the tractor and with Paul at the wheel, we were taken on a memorable trip over many hills, no valleys, just more hills. We think maybe Paul was trying to get relieved of this duty next year.

The weather cooperated completely and we had a wonderful time. It was the first time for some of the cousins to meet each other.

A Funny

Manager: I'm sorry, sir, we have no time open on the course today.

Golfer: Wait a minute, what if Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus showed up? I'm sure you'd find a starting time for them.

Manager: Of course we would, sir.

Golfer: Well, I happen to know they're not coming, so we'll take their time.

Class raises $1,300 for hurricane victims

Mrs. Markwell's 4th grade class at West Liberty Elementary School raised $1,300.00 for Hurricane Katrina victims.

To raise funds, the class worked hard planning and organizing their efforts for the stricken families in the South. They raised money washing cars, through a bake sale, and by operating a lemonade stand.

Some of the students made and sold jewelry at school. Others collected donations from businesses and individuals.

West Liberty Elementary is very proud of the hard work these big hearted students have put forth during a time of need.

Mrs. Brenda Jones of the Morgan County Red Cross Chapter came to the school and accepted the money the children had collected.

Goerge and Terresia Blackburn, tract on White Oak Creek, $30,000.00.

Pumpkins and Tulips

Autumn is pumpkin time. Seeds planted in the spring and matured in the warm summer soil produce these vibrant orange orbs.

In contrast to the pumpkin seed, the tulip bulb is planted much later, in the cool of autumn. It develops during the winter in soil that is cold and, at times, frozen. Yet the tulip, too, emerges as a vibrantly colored creation.

There is another seed... the seed of faith...which may be planted at different times, depending on the condition of the soul. Whether planted early, in the springtime of youth, or later, in the autumn of life, one truth is constant—God has promised love and mercy to all His children, regardless of when they accept Him as their Father. "And everyone [who has followed God]...will receive a hundred times as much and will inherit eternal life. But many who are first will be last, and many who are last will be first." (Matthew 19:29-30)

Visit your house of worship this week; plant your seed of faith in the care of the Creator. He tends pumpkins...and tulips.

Win over Lewis Co. assures winning season, playoff berth

Young gains 186 yards, scores two TD; Fannin, Montgomery also score

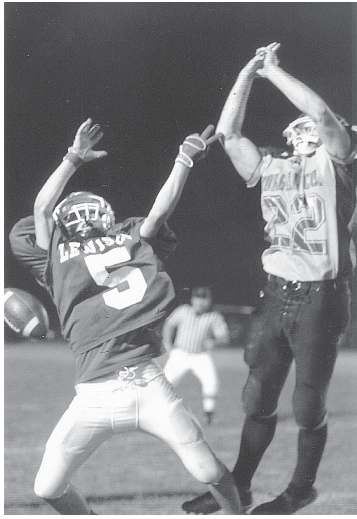

By David Patrick

Derrick Young ran for 186 yards and two touchdowns as the Cougars assured themselves of both a second straight winning season and a playoff berth with a 28-7 victory over Lewis County last Friday.

It was the Morgan defense that led to its first score. After a Devan Adkins interception cut short the Lions' opening drive, the Cougars capitalized with a touchdown. Quarterback Andy Fannin, who was playing for an injured Zeke Hall, took the ball across the goal line from seven yards out to give Morgan an early 7-0 lead.

With the Cougar defense continuing to hold Lewis scoreless, Randy Wood's offense tacked on another touchdown late in the second quarter. After a 35-yard pass completion from Andy Fannin to Nathaniel Peyton put the ball deep in Lion territory, Derrick Young capped off the drive with a four yard scoring run. Jerome Olsen's point after gave the Cougars a two touchdown cushion at the half.

The third quarter brought a third touchdown for Morgan County. Andy Fannin's 34 yard quarterback keeper down the left sideline set the Cougars up with a first and goal on the eight yard line. Three plays later, Derrick Young scored his second TD on a one yard run. With 6:27 remaining, the Cougars held a 21-0 lead.

A Morgan County fumble with just over two minutes remaining in the third quarter led to Lewis County's only score of the game, but the miscue proved relatively harmless — The Cougars got the touchdown back late in the fourth quarter when Wes Montgomery took an option pitch from Andy Fannin and ran it in from seven yards out. Jerome Olsen's fourth extra point kick made the 28-7 final score.

Derrick Young's 186 rushing yards and two TDs brought his season's total to 995 yards and 12 TDs. Andy Fannin added 67 yards on 10 carries, and Wes Montgomery ran four times for 57 yards.

The victory pushed the Cougar record to 6-2 and locked down no worse than a fourth-seed in the post season. Of course, Randy Wood's team still has time to jockey for playoff position with two regular season games remaining. Morgan County hits the road tomorrow night to take on Fleming County, one of the district's only two teams (along with Russell) with perfect records in district play. Overall, Gene Peterson's club is 7-1 on the season, while averaging a region-best 45 points a contest.

Brooks Fights Back

It's routine for UK Football coach Rich Brooks to hold a Monday press conference. But this past Monday's conference was a bit out of the ordinary.

Over the past few weeks, rumors have run rampant in this state about Brooks' job security. After the loss at South Carolina, the speculation about the Kentucky coach losing his job was a popular topic among radio call-in shows across the commonwealth. Monday, Brooks fired back at his critics.

"There are rumors out there that I'm going to resign at some point or time—well that isn't going to happen," Brooks said. "I'm not going to walk out on the players I've recruited and on a program I'm trying to turn around."

Brooks was far from finished. He said whether people understood or not, he'd already turned the Kentucky program around. He referred to his success at Oregon and how the school was in "awful" shape when he arrived. Now, he says, Oregon has been in the top 25 for the biggest part of the Coach Randy Wood discussing a call with official. Wood has won 14 games since taking over the program last year.

Born to coach and win

Wood continues to put Morgan on football map

By David Patrick

Randy Wood was born to coach. It comes as naturally to him as hitting a baseball did to Joe Dimaggio or throwing a football to John Elway. And like those two gentlemen, Wood has an incredible talent for his craft. So incredible that the Tennessee native has won 14 of his first 20 games as a varsity head coach. That's 14 victories at a school that has struggled to win more than two games in a season for the better part of the last 20 years.

"He simply amazes me with the things he's done," said Cougar Assistant Coach Steve McKenzie. "He's so talented at what he does and the kids love to play for him. Coach Wood understands the game of football. His leadership skills are just fantastic."

Randy Wood arrived in Morgan County over a year ago with expectations to win. And while he didn't guarantee a certain number of victories, he was quick to inform his players and staff that losing was no longer an accepted weekly outcome.

The Wood era began with three consecutive wins in which the Cougars outscored their opponents 100-6. Since then, there's been no turning back. Last fall, not only did Morgan get to the post-season for the first time in well over a decade, the Cougars also upset Mercer County for their first-ever -playoff victory in school history.

Now Wood and the Cougars are at it again. Last Friday in Vanceburg, Morgan locked up a second straight post-season berth with a 28-7 win over Lewis County. Simply put, Randy Wood has worked nothing short of a miracle in Morgan County—and it hasn't gone unnoticed.

"He has turned this football program completely around," said Assistant Coach Bob Martin. "The biggest thing is that he understands the kids and truly cares about each one of them. Coach understands that each of his players is an individual, with their own personalities. These kids play hard for Randy and want to please him."

Since August of 2004, Wood has led the Cougars to a trio of three-game winning streaks and has suffered back-to-back losses only once. Last season, Morgan won six of its eight games by at least two touchdowns. This year, the Cougars have outscored their opponents by an average of 15 points a contest. In the last three games alone, Randy Wood's offense has rolled up 111 points, while surrendering just 15. It's results like these that continue to amaze the Cougar faithful.

"The great thing about Coach Wood is that he can teach every position and does it well," said Bob Martin. "When he came in here he brought a whole new concept and attitude to this program. The 'spread option' offense he runs is so different and very hard to stop. He's just a great coach."

Though strapped for numbers for the second straight year, Wood continues to get the most of what players he has available. While most programs feature rosters of 40, 50, or even 60-plus, it's everything Morgan can do to dress 30. But that hasn't stopped the 34-year-old coach from exceeding every possible expectation.

"He's so intelligent and seems to make all the right moves," said Steve McKenzie. "I've never coached with anybody quite like him in any sport. He's got an enthusiasm for what he does and it rubs off on his players. The effort he gets out of these kids is just incredible."

So many comments have been made to me about Randy Wood over the past two seasons. Coaches, players, fans, and even referees have complimented the Cougar coach for his efforts. After one touchdown this season, a gentleman looked at me with a huge smile, shook his head, and said that Randy Wood was "a coaching genius."

With results like this, who am I to argue?

Coach Wood, on behalf of Cougar fans everywhere, we appreciate your love for this program and the sacrifices you've made to be here. It's truly been a "Revival of Cougar Pride," and boy, has it been fun!

Testing and Diabetes Control

Keeping blood glucose at near-normal levels helps people with diabetes avoid long-term complications, which can affect the eyes, nerves and kidneys. Testing blood glucose lets you see how well your medications, eating plan and exercise routine are working to achieve this goal. Table 1 shows available tests and recommended values.

glucose levels over the past three months, and is usually performed by a lab. It measures the linking of glucose to red blood cells. The higher your average blood glucose, the higher your A1c. For people with diabetes, your value should be below 7% to reduce your risk of complications. The American Diabetes Association recommends that you have an A1c test performed two to four times per year.

Fructosamine

This is a lab test that examines the linking of glucose to protein in the blood. It provides a two- to three-week overview of glucose control. Situations in which a fructosamine test may be used include: when you're changing diabetes regimens; during pregnancy, when varying hormone levels may affect insulin requirements; and when red blood cell levels are low, as this may cause an A1c test to be inaccurate.

Table 1. Comparison of Tests Measuring Blood Glucose

Test	What's Measured?	How Performed	Suggested Range
Self-monitoring	Daily changes in blood glucose	1 to 4 times per day, at home, using blood glucose monitor	Before eating: 90-130 mg/dl After eating: <180 mg/dl
A1c	3-month average blood glucose	Lab test performed every 3 to 6 months, or may use home test	<7%
Fructosamine	2- to 3- week blood glucose average	Lab test	Within laboratory recommended range

Self-Monitoring

Self-monitoring using a blood glucose monitor should be performed each day, at scheduled times determined by your healthcare team. This test shows daily changes in blood glucose levels. Here's how to get the most from your self-monitoring:

- Know your monitor. Select a low-maintenance monitor that doesn't require cleaning or complicated calibration.
- Be sure to get an adequate blood drop, and avoid extreme temperatures while testing. Identify which conditions may cause inaccurate readings for your monitor.
- Practice using your monitor with your doctor or pharmacist. If you don't know which monitor to choose, ask your pharmacist.

macist. When you have questions, you'll know where to find help!

- Know what actions you're supposed to take as a result of your blood glucose reading.
- Enter your results in a logbook, or select a monitor that allows you to enter data electronically. Bring your log or monitor to your doctor's appointments.

If your blood glucose value is abnormally high or low, or you're experiencing symptoms of high or low blood sugar, call your doctor.

A Funny

At one time Gershwin thought of taking some lessons from Ravel in Paris, but nothing came of it. Later a story went the rounds explaining what happened. Gershwin had asked the French composer for lessons, and was answered with the question: "How much do you earn a year from your compositions?"

"Between one hundred and two hundred thousand dollars," replied Gershwin.

"That it is I who must ask you to teach me to compose."

A Funny

One of the favorite stories James Thurber told is of a conversation he had with a nurse while he was in a hospital. "What seven-letter word has three u's in it?" he asked.

The nurse thought for a while and then replied, "I really don't know, but it must be unusual."

Texas drug pipeline broken

A woman believed to be a major supplier of drugs to dealers in the Breathitt County area is now behind bars. With assistance from Jackson Police Department Officer Brian Haddix, detectives from Operation UNITE were able to locate and arrest 40-year-old Jeannie Marie Grady late Monday night.

During a search of Grady's vehicle police confiscated nearly 400 assorted prescription pills with a street value estimated at approximately $15,000.

Grady, a former resident of Breathitt County now living in Waco, Texas, was charged with one count each of first-degree, second-degree and third-degree trafficking in a controlled substance. She was also cited for failure to maintain insurance.

"We've been looking for her for over three months," said Mike Luttrell, Kentucky River Task Force manager for UNITE. "We knew she was supplying local dealers with hundreds of pills each month but had not been able to locate her."

Fortunes changed about 10 p.m. Monday, October 3, when an Operation UNITE detective received a tip that Grady was back in town driving a 2001 Chevrolet Suburban. Local police were notified, and Haddix recalled seeing the car earlier in the evening. He checked out a local motel but Grady wasn't there. At approximately 11 p.m. he spotted the car at another residence, and ultimately conducted a traffic stop on KY 1812.

After receiving consent to search the Suburban, police discovered an assortment of pills, including OxyContin, Methadone, Hydrocodone and Xanax.

Grady was arrested at 11:35 p.m. and lodged in the Three Forks Regional Jail in Lee County.

Make The Most Of Each Day

In the days before it was possible to use the telephone to relay urgent messages the way we do today, the telegram was the chief means of fast communication.

One day Mr. Schwab received a telegram from one of his salespeople telling him that he had just sold the largest single order for steel in the history of the company.

Mr. Schwab received the telegram the next day and wired back, "Wonderful. What have you done today?"

Words Of Wisdom

Junction News

By Kathy Bolin
Oct. 17--Greetings from the Junction. Whew! Did I almost get skinned alive this week? In last week's article I stated that Heather Gamble was having her 34th birthday, but acutally it was her 31st birthda. Another mistake, it was not April Vest celebrating her 17th birthday, it was Kelly Vest. I hope I did not offend you girls. I must have been having one of those senior moments, which have been occuring quite frequently the last couple of years. While I am on birthdays, Henry Bailey celebrated a birthday this week. I won't give away his age. Have you noticed that from 30-70 no one wants to reveal their age, then after 70 it seems like everyone is proud to be an elder. Go figure! Special birthday wishes to Abby and Ally Ross, daughters of Chad and Pam Ross, of Ezel.

I hope that everyone enjoyed our revival services last week. I thought we had a good turnout each night. it was good just to fellowship and enjoy visiting with neighbors and friends. Jimmy Tharp did a wonderful job with nightly devotions. There was one person who rededicated their life to the Lord. I feel that spiritual kindling that goes along with a revival.

We had a wonderful time at Rudy's Ranch this past weekend. The Kentucky Natural Gaited Horse Association (KNGHA) sponsored a trail ride, auction, and fun show. I did not ride on this outing. On Saturday as I got ready to go, I had several obstacles in my path so my horse stayed at home. I still had a great time; I enjoy the fun shows and the company of our members.

Beaulie Robbins, wife of Autie Robbins, had a heart attack last week. She is in critical in Lexington. Peanut Wright was released from the hospital after his heart attack and is now resting comfortable back at home on Williams Creek.

Also, Clark Legg is in Central Baptist, in Lexington. Clark went through a triple bypass last week.

Well, I guess that is all I have got to say for this week.

So long!!!

Using the right decking materials is important. Composite decking offers homeowners the beauty of wood with none of the typical maintenance issues. No scraping, staining or sealing is required. For example, the composition of Veranda composite decking ensures its sustainability; the plastic shields the wood from insects and moisture damage, while the wood fiber protects the plastic from UV damage and adds stability.

Many homeowners want to preserve the traditional look of their homes, and polymer siding can help them do just that. For instance, the popular Cedar Impressions line of polymer siding by CertainTeed is molded from real cedar shingles to capture the authentic shingle texture and size. tures by county government and by his office must be approved for payment by the magistrates

At the September court meeting, Magistrates Potter, Patrick, and Smith had questioned the wisdom of a $15,000 emergency expenditure authorized by Judge Conley the previous month to repair a county road department loader. Potter and Patrick said last week they had received "a lot of calls" from citizens questioning that expenditure by Conley's Office and which the magistrates had subsequently approved at the August court meeting.

In other action last week, the court selected Summit Engineering to design a proposed downtown AOC (Administrative Office of the Courts) parking structure in downtown West Liberty, contingent upon the receipt of state funding for the project.

Judge Conley said the court's plan is to construct a modern parking structure on Main Street to alleviate court parking. He said the court's plan is to purchase property on the west side of Broadway Street in anticipation of erecting a modern judicial building on the lot currently occupied by McKenzie Shopwise.

Conley said the hope is to utilize the present judicial building (the Morgan County Courthouse) as headquarters for a new regional 911 system to be operated by the West Liberty Police Department. "This would assure that the handsome old building, which has a sentimental attachment for many in the community, would be preserved and maintained," Conley said. But such a move would be contingent on action by the West Liberty City Council to move its communication center to the building, Conley added.

Conley said he agrees the court system needs a more spacious facility here with good security, which, he said, the old courthouse, built in 1912, lacks.

The parking structure would more than double the available parking space for downtown and would serve not only the judicial building, but also businesses, downtown churches, and would provide parking for the community center's convention center and for football games at Herdman Field, both of which are within easy walking distance from downtown.

The parking structure will be designed to add a second floor at a later date if needed, he said.

The court also:

√Voted to lease the former CMS plant to BONEAL, Inc., a Menifee County-based company, which plans to open an assembly plant in the building by the first of the year.

√Voted to employ Sherry Terry on a part-time basis to administer a community health forums program. The 18-month program is contingent upon receipt of a $5,000 Health Initiative Grant.

√Voted to accept a bid of $113,085 submitted by Kentuckiana Election Services for new digital voting equipment required by the state.

√Voted to set Oct. 31 from 5:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. as Trick or Treat Night in Morgan County.

√Approved payment of $150,000 of coal severance tax funds approved by the governor for the purchase of an excavator and two pickup trucks for the county road department.

West Elementary Captures Attendance Banner

Students at West Liberty Elementary School earned the Attendance Award for the first month of school with the best student attendance record among all the county's elementary schools. Principal Janea Chaney was so proud, she had the whole student body to gather in front of the school for a photo. Kim Biddle, director of pupil personnel, presented the school with the traveling attendance award banner that goes to the school with best attendance each month. Mrs. Chaney commended the students as well as the WLES staff, shown at left, for contributing to the students' regular attendance.

However, she said, if there are not enough signers for the service by that time, the scope of the project will probably have to be reduced by eliminating some roads from the project.

Persons interested in signing up for water service are invited to stop by the district office at 408 Prestonsburg Street to review the project map to see if they are in the project area.

last 16 years.

"I can coach football and my coaches can coach football," said Brooks. "We are not going to cheat. We are going to build this program—given the opportunity—into a winning and consistent program. We actually have a plan—and I know a lot of people in this room don't believe it—but we do have a plan."

Brooks literally guaranteed success for Kentucky if the university allows him to remain. But, he said it doesn't happen overnight.

"I want to make it (Kentucky) what Oregon and Virginia Tech have become," Brooks said. "But to do that, I have to have a few years to recruit players and build the program the way it should be. Whether I get that or not, I don't know. The bottom line is that it can be done and if I stay here it will be done. I am committed to doing that."

Brooks said he understood the negativity and the criticism that has been thrown his way, but it wouldn't deter him from doing his job. Just how long the Kentucky coach will be allowed to remain on the job is still to be determined.

Band of Pride's percussion section's hours of practice paid off; their routine brought cheers from onlookers at the quarter-finals competition.

Brass and wind units performing in state quarter-finals in Corbin.

Morgan County's young Band of Pride placed ninth in the quarter-finals of the State Marching Band competition in Corbin last weekend. Judges predicted Morgan's young bandsmen will be tough competitors in state competition in years to come.

Morgan Co.'s Band of Pride gets good reviews in state quarter-finals

By Kelly Howard

Twenty-six members strong, the Morgan County "Band of Pride" Marching Band is not your average group of kids. For the first time since 1994, the "Band of Pride" performed in the State Quarter Final Competition held in Corbin this past Saturday, October 15.

What makes this group of kids so special, is that they are an extremely "young" band, with eight of the 26 members still in middle school. Their performance in the competition was exceptional.

Soloists Josh Wright, Trombone, and Erica Akers, Trumpet, performed flawlessly. The Band and Color Guard were in-step, in-line, and on-time throughout their exciting performance. The percussion section was featured towards the end of the show, with some crowd-pleasing drum steps and moves that drew cheers from the stands. Their fun, upbeat musical selections included "Carry on My Wayward Son" by Kansas, "Any Way You Want It" by Journey, and "When a Man Loves A Woman" by Percy Sledge.

The competition Morgan County's young group was up against: 10th-12th grade students with a lot more experience. The top eight bands in the competition will go on to the semi-finals, and Morgan County just missed their chance this year, receiving 9th place overall, something very few young bands ever accomplish.

In review of the critiqued taped comments, the judges were extremely pleased with Morgan County's young crew, and commended them on making it to this high level of competition. They also stated that with a band this good now, Morgan County will be a tough competitor in the years to come.

The "Band of Pride" also performed in three regular season competitions, receiving a 1st Place Percussion Award, 2nd Place Band Award at Johnson Central, 4th Place Overall in Hazard, and a rating of Proficient in their recent Morehead competition, just one step down from the Distinguished top rating.

This will be the last year for two of its members. Josh Wright and Tabatha Adkins will be graduating, but leaving behind their legacy of excellent leadership abilities and striving for perfection, for this very young and eager group of young performers.

The "Band of Pride" will have one more performance this year, which will be at half-time for Senior Night football game. Fans, take time to enjoy the half-time show, and give these kids a hand for a season of excellence.

With all the accomplishments this band has made, the instructors, students and band parents hope they can bring in some more members in the years to come. Several of the band parents have marching band in their history, and can't wait to see what these kids do next year.

Instructors Greg Greene, Kevin Akers, and Angela Payne, would like to thank all the area businesses and individuals who contribute each and every year to the band fund. Currently, the band has Cougar Umbrellas for sale at a discounted $10.00, Band Cards for $5.00 for discounts on food and merchandise with area businesses, and the current fundraiser is with RADA Cutlery, until November 4th. If anyone would like to make a contribution, purchase the aforementioned items, order cutlery, or become a Band Booster, contact Kelly Howard at 743-2095. You'll never know how much the band members and instructors all appreciate the community's support and encouragement. Thank you all!

Excellence doesn't come easy. Band members spend hours practicing their music and their routines.
